

Fabian Essler (University of Oxford)

Full counting statistics out of equilibrium

I consider the full quantum mechanical probability distributions of subsystem magnetisations after quantum quenches to the spin-1/2 XXZ Heisenberg model and the Transverse Field Ising Chain. I show that these quantities can reveal interesting information on the melting of (short-range) order and describe an analytic approach for calculating them.